THE RANGE 2007

Introducing The Range 2007, a collection of contemporary and classic colours by Resene conceived for the year 2007.

2007 brings us an optimistic fresh palette of warm clear colours expanding into traditionally cool colour families and neutrals joined by exciting new ways of combining colours to push the boundaries on our coloured environment. The old colour rules are banished broadening the use and mix of colours with a focus on a palette approach where all colours need to work together in any variation by providing colours and neutrals that span both the hue and value range. Exploration by senses sees colour direction being driven by internal experiences of colour and its effect on the psyche rather than external forces.

Colours become increasingly versatile and genderless. Colours transcend the traditional boundaries with men now confident to wear hues once traditionally associated purely with feminine clothing and this confidence translating into home palettes. Multi-culturalism and a synthesis of cultural norms adds interest to the palette blending colour tastes of ethnic groups and nationalities and adding spicy undertones to safe colour selections.

Individual choice is key, typically achieved through often quirky personalised colour combinations rather than customised individual colours. It is how one combines the colours to fit lifestyle and taste that drives the individuality and expresses personal style. Intriguing colour, texture, sheen and object combination tells a story about the owner in a way that no one element can in isolation.

Contradiction of colours, textures, sheens and sophisticated whimsy heralds a new style of scheme development, with a desire to inject rarity into a space to interest, whether it be the antique chair in a predominantly modern interior, the quirky coloured refrigerator in the kitchen or the comfortable bean bag in the formal lounge. Accessorising allows us to add character and a sense of history to our homes to reflect the way we experience the world and give others an insight into our persona. Injections of colour into mundane objects, such as kitchen appliances, transform work around the home into experiences.
